

Table of Contents

* * * * *

Introduction.....	1
1. The Party and Its Past: Determinants of the SPD's European Security Policy.....	30
The SPD's Century-Long Struggle to Define its Place in Germany and Europe.....	34
Program and Principle, Power and People: The Social Democratic Party as a Political Organization.....	76
The Social Democratic Party as an Actor in Federal German Politics.....	121
2. European Self-Assertion, Common Security and the End of the Cold War.....	140
European Self-Assertion in the Context of a New SPD Security Policy.....	141
Gorbachev's New Thinking and the SPD's European Security Policy.....	191
European Self-Assertion and the End of the Cold War.....	204
3. Lafontaine's SPD, German Unification and European Security.....	230
Lafontaine's SPD and German Unification....	234
Unifying Germany and European Security....	251
The SPD and the Gulf War.....	301

4.	Maastricht and SPD Opposition to the "Militarization" of European Integration.....	314
	The SPD Under New Leadership.....	320
	Maastricht and Its Aftermath.....	328
	Maastricht and a European Common Foreign and Security Policy.....	362
5.	Scharping's SPD, the Use-of-Force and European Security.....	414
	Scharping's SPD and European Security: The Struggle for Moderation.....	417
	The Use of Force and German Social Democracy.....	465
	The SPD and the Future of Europe.....	515
	Conclusion.....	544
	Appendix A: English Translation of Complete Survey with Data for the Wiesbaden Delegates and the Federal Republic of Germany.....	570
	Appendix B: Survey in German as Distributed to the Delegates.....	580
	Bibliography.....	588