

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ABSTRACT	ii
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	iv
TABLE OF CONTENTS	v
INTRODUCTION	1
CHAPTER I.
MARX'S RELATIONSHIP TO THE MORAL POINT OF VIEW	9
1. Thought and Morality	10
a. Argument from origins
b. Argument from social function
c. Idealist self-conception
d. Moralism
2. History and Morality	27
a. Relativism
b. Determinism
3. Science and Morality	48
4. Marxism Without Values	57
5. A Normative Rejection of Morality	66
6. Universal Concern for Persons	76
CHAPTER II.
MORAL PERSONHOOD	80
1. Moral Standing	83
2. The Moral Content of Persons	93
3. Theories of Moral Personhood and Moral Theories	102
4. Differences in Moral Standing Between Moral Theories	115
5. Moral Personhood and Marx	120

CHAPTER III

THE MORAL CONTENT OF PERSONS IN MARX	124
1. Exploitation and the Self-Ownership Thesis	125
a. World-ownership
b. History, society and self-ownership
c. Capitalism and exploitation
d. Marx's rejection of self-ownership
2. The Development of the Forces of Production and Humanity	152
3. Marx's Descriptive Theory of Freedom	163
4. The Case for Welfarism Over Freedom	176
5. The Case for Welfarism Over Potentialism	183
6. Objections to Viewing Well-being as the Basis of Marx's Concern for Persons	191

CHAPTER IV

THE MORAL STANDING OF PERSONS IN MARX	202
1. The Moral Standing of The Bourgeoisie	203
2. Slaves, Serfs, and the Colonized	225

CONCLUSION	237
-------------------	------------

BIBLIOGRAPHY	240
---------------------	------------