4. INTERNAL SECURITY, DEFENCE, FOREIGN POLICY

The area of foreign policy, defence and internal security and public order and also the legislative, economic and social areas require for their mutual inter-relations a closer coordination and involvement by the Deputy Premier.

ÈSSD sees as a prerequisite to the effective performance in this area, the establishment of the basic principles of state policy as far as security and defence of the State is concerned, namely in the establishment, consideration and approval of the National Security Strategy. On this strategy other measures will be based binding on the other departments as well as relevant legislation, in particular section of a constitutional law on Czech Republic security.

Based on the approval of the above constitutional law the Security Board of the State will be established to prepare professional material for government decisions in the area of foreign policy, defence and internal security. The members of this Board will consist of both the ex-officio government members and qualified security and military experts.
