

Left Politics in South Asia

Reframing the Agenda

Edited by
Ravi Kumar

AAKAR

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
1. Introduction: Left Politics in South Asia: Reframing the Agenda Ravi Kumar	1
2. Power and Resistance in Modi's India Radhika Desai	13
3. Reclaiming the Nation and Nationalism: A Marxist Praxis V. Krishna Ananth	33
4. Neoliberal Capitalism, Resistance and Crisis of the Left in India Ravi Kumar	55
5. Who is Afraid of Postcolonial Theory? Development, Accumulation and the Spectre of Outside Dhritiman Chakraborty	74
6. State, Class and People's Struggles: Trajectory of the Left in Bangladesh—Crisis and New Formation Anu Muhammad	96
7. South Asia After Bangladesh: Some Aspects of the National Question in India Salimullah Khan	116
8. Radical Route to Neoconservative Resolution in Nepal Shubhanga Pandey	141
9. Revisiting the Marxist Approach to Sex Work Anuja Agrawal	154
10. Marxism and Queer Theory: A Critical Analysis Pushpesh Kumar	175

vi Left Politics in South Asia: Reframing the Agenda

11. Countering 'Alienation': Re-reading Subversion in Discursive Practices
Rachna Chaudhary 200
12. Creative Construction: Imagining New Pathways of Worker Control
Manas Ranjan Bhowmik 223
13. Reworking Notions of the 'Trade Union' and Organized Labour: Issues of Identity, Ecology and Technology in Imaginations of the Chhattisgarh Mukti Morcha in Central India
Radhika Krishnan 247
14. Temple as a Site of Contestation: The Left's Engagement with Hindu Identity Politics in Kerala
Nirmala V.U. 271
- List of Contributors* 308