

Contents

PREFACE	xiv
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	xv
1 INTRODUCTION	1
The Origins of Modern Social Theory: 1750–1920	1
Modern Social Theory Defined	5
The Central Subject Matter of Social Theory	6
1 Political Change and the Revolution in France	6
The Fall of Feudalism and the Elimination of Social Distinctions	8
2 Economic Changes and the Development of Capitalism	9
Depopulation and the Enclosure Movement	10
Capitalist Development and the Decline of the Guild System	12
3 The Rise of Individualism	13
The Two Philosophies of Knowledge: Idealism and Empiricism	16
Classical Idealism	16
Hegelian Idealism	19
Hegel's Theory of Development	22
Empiricism and the View from Science	23
The Development of Positivism	24
2 KARL MARX	27
The Historical Context of Karl Marx's Work	27
Rejection of Hegel and the Shift to Materialism	28
Materialism as a Theoretical Perspective	32
The German Ideology	33
The Materialist Theory of History	34
Means of Production	36
Relations of Production	36
Mode of Production, Forces of Production	38
Laws of Historical Development: Ancient, Feudal and Capitalist Forms of Ownership	40

Marx's Theory of Ideology	43
History of the Term in Hegel and Marx	43
The Four Building Blocks of a Theory of Ideology	44
The Functions of Ideology	50
Explaining Contradictions	50
Stages of Capitalist Development: Shift from the Economy of the Country to the Town	51
Marx's Economic Works	54
Marx, Capital and the Critique of Political Economy	55
Marx's Study of Capitalism: Capital	59
Capital Vol. 1, Part A: Economic and Social Elements of Capitalism	60
Commodities: Use Value and Exchange Value	60
The Commensurability of Use with Exchange	62
Consequences of Exchange on Social Relations	63
Labor Theory of Value and the Dual Character of Labor	65
Useful Labor	65
Abstract Labor	67
Capital Vol. 1, Part B: The Theory of Value	68
The Origin of Value and the Value Form	68
Relative and Equivalent Forms of Value	69
Fetishism of Commodities	71
Reification of Economy and Society	76
Capital Vol. 1, Part C: Theory of Surplus Value	77
Free Labor and the Emergence of Labor Power	78
Surplus Labor, Surplus Value and the Maintenance of the Worker	80
The History of Surplus Labor: the Working Day	81
The Wage Form: Unpaid Labor	82
Capital Vol. 1, Part D: The Genesis of Capitalism	83
Primitive Accumulation	83
The Stages of Primitive Accumulation	85
Cooperation and the Division of Labor	85
Division of Labor: Simple and Complex Cooperation	86
Theory of Alienation	88
History of the Concept in Hegel	88
Feuerbach's Theory of Religious Alienation	88
Marx's Rejection of Feuerbach	90
Marx's Theory of Alienation and the 1844 Manuscripts	91
Marx's theory of Human Nature	92
Alienation from the Product	92
Alienation from Productive Activity	93
Alienation from Species	95
Alienation from Fellow Humans	97
Objectification and Alienation	97

Contents

Marx's Political Writings	98
History of Marx's View of the State	98
Hegel's View of the State	99
Marx and the Materialist Origins of the State: Base and Superstructure	100
The Historical Origins of the Modern State: the Period of State Formation	102
The State and Civil Society in Smith, Hegel and Marx	105
Marx's Dialectical View of History	107
History of the Term 'Dialectic'	108
Hegel's Dialectic	110
Marx's Dialectic	112
Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History	114
Engels and the Dialectic	116
Application of the Dialectic to History	117
3 EMILE DURKHEIM	120
The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work	120
Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work	121
The Problem of Individualism	123
Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau	125
The Division of Labor in Society	128
Central Thesis	128
Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity	129
The Common Conscience	131
Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions	133
Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions	133
Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions	135
Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law	138
Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor	138
Segmental Societies	139
Characteristics of Advanced Societies	140
Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies	142
Main Causes of the Division of Labor	143
A Definition of the Division of Labor	144
Individualism and the Division of Labor	146
Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor:
Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor	149
The Rules of Sociological Method	151
Aim of the Rules	151
The Existence of Social Facts	153
Collective Representations	154

Marx, Durkheim, Weber: formations of modern social thought

The Characteristics of Social Facts	155
Observations of Social Facts	156
Problems in Observing Social Facts	156
Distinction between Normal and Pathological	157
Crime as a Normal Phenomenon	158
Social Morphology and the Classification of Social Types	159
Rules for the Explanation of Social Facts	161
Durkheim's Study of Suicide	163
Historical Background	163
A Social Theory of Suicide	164
The Social Suicide Rate	164
Suicide and Social Integration	166
Suicide, the Integrative Pole: Egoistic and Altruistic Suicide	167
Religious Integration and Egoistic Suicide	168
Family Integration and Egoistic Suicide	172
Political Integration and Egoistic Suicide	175
Explanation of Egoism and Egoistic Suicide	176
Altruistic Suicide and Social Integration	177
Military vs Civilian Suicides	180
Suicide, the Regulative Pole: Anomic and Fatalistic Suicide	181
Causes of Anomie and the Role Played by the Economy	185
History of the Term Anomie	186
Fatalistic Suicide	187
The Elementary Forms of the Religious Life	188
The Historical Context of the Work	188
Fundamental Aims of the Work	189
Durkheim's Search for a 'Positive' Definition of Religion	189
Sacred and Profane	191
The Search for the Most Elementary Religion	192
The Nature of Totemism and Totemic Belief	194
The Clan, the Totem and the Universe: the Fundamental Organizing Principle	196
Totemism and the Concept of Religious Force	197
The Nature of Positive and Negative Interdicts	198
Religion and the Social Origins of the Categories of Thought: Durkheim's Theory of Knowledge	200
Durkheim's Evidence: Space	202
Durkheim's Evidence: Time as a Social Category	203
Durkheim's Evidence: the Religious Origin of the Concept of Cause	204

Contents

Categories of Religious Rites and their Social Functions	205
Sacrificial Rites	206
Imitative Rites and the Principle of Causality	208
Representative Rites	209
Piacular Rites	210
The Social Nature of Ceremony and the Representation of the Group	211

4 MAX WEBER	212
The Historical Context of Max Weber's Work	212
Weber's Theoretical Perspective and Fundamental Themes in his Work	214
Debate with Marx	215
View of History and Social Causation	215
The Theme of Rationalization in Weber's Work	217
Rationalization Defined	218
Calculation	219
The Distinction between Rationality and Rationalization	220
The Theme of Capitalism in Weber's Work	223
General Economic History	223
Economic Background	224
The Role of Guilds in Capitalist Development	226
Non-economic Factors in Capitalist Development: Rationality, Law, Citizenship and the State	226
Rational Capitalism and the Growth of the 'Gain Spirit'	230
Class, Status and Party	232
Weber's Theory of Social Class: Class and Market Situation	233
Action Flowing from Class Interests	235
Historical Types of Class Struggle	236
Weber's Concept of the Status Group: the Separation of Status from Class	238
Characteristics of Status Groups	240
Status Groups and the Formation of Communities	242
Political Parties	243
The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism	243
Aims of Weber's Study	244
Weber's Central Thesis	244
The 'Spirit' of Capitalism	245
Distinctiveness of the 'Spirit' in Modern Capitalism: Traditional vs Modern Capitalism	247
Calvinism and Capitalism	248

The Link Between Salvation and Work and between Religious Teaching and the Commercial Spirit	251
Asceticism, Capitalism and the Transformation of the 'Calling'	253
Weber's Methodology and Theory of Knowledge in the Social Sciences	255
Historical and Philosophic Background of Weber's Methodology	256
Wilhelm Windelband's Criticism of the Natural Sciences	257
Heinrich Rickert and the Debate between the Natural and Social Sciences	260
The Methodenstreit of the 1880s: Controversy over Method	265
Weber's Contribution to the Methodenstreit : Concept Formation, Values and Social Science	267
Ideal Types	270
Weber's Theory of Social Action	273
Two Types of Understanding: Weber's Interpretive Sociology	276
Types of Social Action	279
Weber's Political Writings and the Theory of Legitimate Domination	282
Charismatic Domination	284
Charismatic Domination and Administration	287
Traditional Domination	288
Patrimonial and Patriarchal Forms of Administration	289
Patriarchal Authority and the Edict	291
Legal Domination	291
Statute vs the Edict	292
Weber's Study of Bureaucracy	293
Historical Context of Bureaucracy	293
Distinction between Administratively Oriented Societies and Bureaucratic Societies	294
Factors Leading to Bureaucratization	296
Key Concepts in Weber's Study of Bureaucracy	297
The Technical Superiority of Bureaucracy	298
Characteristics of Bureaucracy	300
Concept of the 'Office' in Bureaucratic Organization	301
Bureaucracy and Law	302
The Leveling of Social Differences	303
Consequences of Bureaucracy	304
5 CONCLUSION	305
Sociological Theory in America	305
Developments in American Sociology	306

Contents

GLOSSARY OF CONCEPTS	308
Marx	308
Durkheim	325
Weber	337
BIBLIOGRAPHY	348
INDEX	356