Korean Unions Plan National Actions as Park Government Faces Public Backlash

Brussels, 18 November 2016 (ITUC OnLine): Korean national trade union centre KCTU has announced plans for a general strike on 30 November to protest the government's labour policies, as opposition to embattled President Park Guen-hye grows. The other main national centre FKTU plans to hold a national rally 19 November. Hundreds of thousands of people took to the streets on 12 November, demanding that Park, whose Presidency is under siege over allegations of corruption including illicit payments by Korean "chaebol" conglomerates including scandal-ridden Samsung. The national parliament has now appointed a special prosecutor to investigate the allegations. Samsung and other chaebols, with opaque governance practices and riddled with nepotism, are coming under intense scrutiny, including for their covert relationships with Park's entourage.

Park's term in office has been marked by aggressive repression of trade unions, with KCTU President Han Sang-Gyun imprisoned for five years in the Seoul Detention Centre for helping to organise previous public protests. Han, who is one of twenty union leaders currently in prison, met a delegation of global union representatives which was present in Seoul during the weekend protest.

"The Park government's crackdown on legitimate union activity is having terrible consequences for Korean workers. Workers are being forced to do up to 100 hours of overtime per month, threatened with dismissal if they don't comply, and employers frequently sack workers who try to join unions. In many companies, health and safety standards are appalling, sexual harassment is rife and workers are treated with total contempt by their bosses," said ITUC General Secretary Sharan Burrow.

Korean companies such as Samsung <https://www.ituc-csi.org/global-reach-of-samsung-s-medieval> and LG are well known for their opposition to unions in their supply chains, with supplier companies closely monitored for any sign of workers organising. Suppliers know that if a union is formed, their company faces exclusion from the supply chain. Hyundai too has engaged in union-busting in its supplier companies <http://www.industrial-union.org/hyundai-stop-union-busting-at-your-suppliers-1> .

The government has already decreed the KCTU's planned strike to be illegalThe

ITUC represents 180 million workers in 162 countries and territories and has 333 national affiliates.
