G20 must deal with jobs crisis

Public Services International General Secretary Rosa Pavanelli joined trade union leaders at the Labour 20 Summit in Moscow from 16-19 July, 2013, in preparation for the G20 meetings that will be held in Russia in September.

Greek workers say no to austerity

Greek workers took to the streets on 16 July for a 24-hour general strike and demonstration. PSI affiliate ADEDY, together with the private sector union GSEE and municipal workers' union POE-OTA, marched from Klafthmonos Square to Syntagma, outside Parliament. The general strike affected public offices, public transport, municipal services and civil aviation. Read more.

PSI affiliate leader is Labour minister in new Egyptian cabinet

Almost two weeks after tens of millions of Egyptians took to the streets in a 'second wave of revolution' against the Morsi government, and the military took control of Egypt, a new cabinet has been sworn in. Kamal Abu Eita, who was leader of the independent Real Estate and Tax Authority Employees' Union (RETA) in Egypt and president of the Egyptian Federation of Independent Trade Unions (EFITU), has been named as Minister of Manpower in the new Egyptian government.
