

Yes to asylum, yes to public services

In 2016, we should honour the February Strike, an action taken in 1941 by unionized workers on the public trams and docks of Amsterdam. Today, are we ready to confront the austerity-fueled resurgence of racism and national chauvinism across Europe and other parts of the world?

South Korea's human rights hypocrisy

South Korea is currently Chair of the UN Human Rights Council, but their own record on human rights abuses is far from perfect. More

Hospitals and schools targeted in Syria air raids

Air raids on five hospitals and two schools, on 15 February, in separate locations in northern Syria killed at least 50 people and left dozens others wounded. "We are on the verge of a global war that the world leaders are trying to hide, but it is already visible in the terrible suffering of millions of civilians" says PSI General Secretary Rosa Pavanelli. ## Connect with us

The Flint crisis is a glaring example of the results of right-wing governments. Public Services International (PSI) stands with the public service workers of Flint, with their families and their communities as they struggle with this massive miscarriage of justice.
