

List of Authors

Aurel Croissant is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Heidelberg, Germany. He is author of Politische Transformation in Südkorea (1998), and a forthcoming book on post-transitory development of democracy in the Philippines, Korea and Thailand (2002). Together with Wolfgang Merkel, Hans-Juergen Puhle, Peter Thiery, and Claudia Eicher he has written a two-volume book entitled Defective Democracy (forthcoming 2002).

Jeffrey Gallup, a longtime American diplomat, is a member of the Board of Directors of the Cambodian Institute of Human Rights in Phnom Penh. His diplomatic career has enabled him to study democratic transitions in Eastern Europe, Southeast Asia, Haiti and West Africa. He has been a visiting fellow at the National Endowment for Democracy's International Forum for Democratic Development (United States) and has written frequently for various journals on elections, human rights and democratization.

Orathai Kokpol is a Lecturer in Politics and Public Administration at the Faculty of Political Science, Thammasat University, Thailand. She has a B.A. in Political Science from Thammasat University, an M.Sc. in Public Administration and Public Policy from the London School of Economics and Political Science, and a Ph.D. in Political Science from the University of Toronto.

Lim Hong Hai is Associate Professor at the School of Social Sciences, Universiti Sains Malaysia. His interest in and writing on Malaysian politics centre on the theme of power centralization and executive aggrandizement, and the effects they have on public administration and governmental performance generally. He teaches mainly in the school's MPA programme and is currently researching the relationship between civil servants and politicians in Malaysia.

Kassie Neou is the Director of the Cambodian Institute of Human Rights and Vice-chairman of Cambodia's National Election Commission. He has been a well-known advocate of human rights following his and his compatriots' suffering at the hands of Pol Pot's Khmer Rouge regime in the 1970s. He has published many articles and has been invited to speak at many international gatherings over the years. He received the Refugees International award in 1989, was one of Human Rights World's Heroes for the Lawyers Committee for Human Rights in 1989 and was acknowledged by the United Nations Association of the United States for his advancement of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms in 1991.

Hermawan Sulisty is a Senior Researcher with the Center for Political Research, the Indonesian Institute of Sciences (P2P-LIPI). He is also Co-ordinator and Chairperson of the Conflict and Peace Research Network (CONCERN). He has graduate degrees in history from Ohio University and political science from the University of Indonesia, and a Ph.D. from Arizona State University. He is member of the National Advisory Board of KIPP, the largest election monitoring committee. He was a member of the team involved in drafting the political laws in 1998-1999, including the law on general elections, and leader of the team assigned by the parliament in 2000-2001 to work on the revisions of the laws on political parties, general elections and the structure of parliament.

Julio Teehankee is Associate Professor of Political Science at De La Salle University-Manila (DLSU-M), where he has twice served as the Chair of the Political Science Department. He has a Ph.D. in Development Studies from DLSU-M, an M.A. in Political Science from the University of the Philippines and an A.B. in Political Science from DLSU-M. He was a Japan Foundation Fellow at Ibaraki University, Japan (1995-1996); a Fulbright American Studies Institute Fellow at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale (2000); a Sumitomo Foundation research grantee at Waseda Institute of Asia-Pacific Studies, Japan (2000); and a Visiting Research Fellow of the Japan Institute of International Affairs (2002). His field of specialization is comparative political development with an emphasis on political reforms, conflict resolution, political parties and elections.

Yeo Lay Hwee is a Research Fellow at the Singapore Institute of International Affairs (SIIA). Prior to that she was a Research Associate at the Institute of Policy Studies, taught at the University of Macau from 1992-1994, and worked for the Singapore Ministry of Defence and the Ministry of Information and the Arts. Her current research interests are on international relations and international political economy, looking in particular at ASEAN-EU relations and the Asia-Europe Meeting (ASEM) process.