

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
Abbreviations	12
Introduction	13
Chapter 1. The background	19
The German emigration	20
The German emigration to Britain	23
The political exiles in Britain	28
The SPD	30
The SAP	33
Nazi surveillance and persecution of the political emigrés	35
Nazi activities in England	39
The case of Hans Wesemann	44
The abduction of Berthold Jacob	53
Dr Ganz's first London mission	56
Chapter 2. Mathilde Wurm	63
Life and work, 1874-1920	65
The Reichstag years, 1920-1933	78
The first months of exile, May 1933-January 1934	89
Exile in Britain, February 1934-March 1935	93
Chapter 3. Dora Fabian	105
Life and work, 1901-1933	106
The first months of exile, April-September 1933	125
Exile in Britain, September 1933-March 1935	127
Dora Fabian and the exiled SAP	142
Chapter 4. The deaths	155
24th to 31st March 1935: the final week	155
1st to 4th April 1935: the interim	162
4th to 9th April 1935: the police investigations	165
10th April 1935: the inquest	176
The funeral	182
Chapter 5. Press coverage	185
The British press	186
The British daily press	187
The British Sunday press	200
British weekly and monthly journals	205
The Reich German press	210
Other European presses: the German-language Czech press	212

The German-language Swiss press	218
The French press	226
The exile press	235

Chapter 6. The reactions	245
Exile German reactions	246
Reactions of the exiled SAP and SPD	259
Reich German reactions	268
Other reactions from continental Europe	271
British reactions	275
Individual British reactions	276
Reactions in Parliament	281
Corporate and official British reactions	283

Chapter 7. The investigations	291
Roy Ganz	292
The London emigrés	294
The SAP and the ILP	295
The SPD and the Labour Party	299
The Labour Party, the Sozialdemokratisches Forbund i Danmark and the Sozialistische Arbeiter-Internationale	303
Karl Korsch's political associates	311
Thea Haase	316
Clara Leiser	318

Chapter 8. The aftermath	329
The exiles	329
The exiled Socialists	333
Das braune Netz	337
Public opinion in Britain	339
Anti-Nazi opinion in Britain	342
The British authorities	347
The case of Karl Korsch	349
The case of Heinz-Alex Nathan	353
The others	357
The trial of Hans Wesemann	362
The role of the German Embassy	363
Dora Fabian's testimony	366

Postscript	369
-------------------	-----

Biographical Appendix	379
------------------------------	-----

Sources	395
----------------	-----

Index	413
--------------	-----